SBA Disaster Assistance for Typhoon Chaba Victims

You recently registered for disaster assistance by telephoning the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA). You reported damage from Typhoon Chaba. Accordingly, FEMA referred you to the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) for a low-interest disaster loan.

SBA disaster loans are the primary source of Federal assistance for privately owned real and personal property. Federal disaster loans from SBA help fund repair and replacement costs that are not fully covered by insurance or other recoveries. Homeowners, renters, businesses of all sizes, and private, nonprofit organizations may receive SBA disaster loans.

The deadline to apply for property damage loans is October 26, 2004

Here's What You Should Do...

- Visit any of the Disaster Recovery Centers listed on the reverse side of this letter.
- Go directly to the SBA desk. Because you have already registered with FEMA, you do not need to go through the FEMA line.
- Please bring this notice with you.

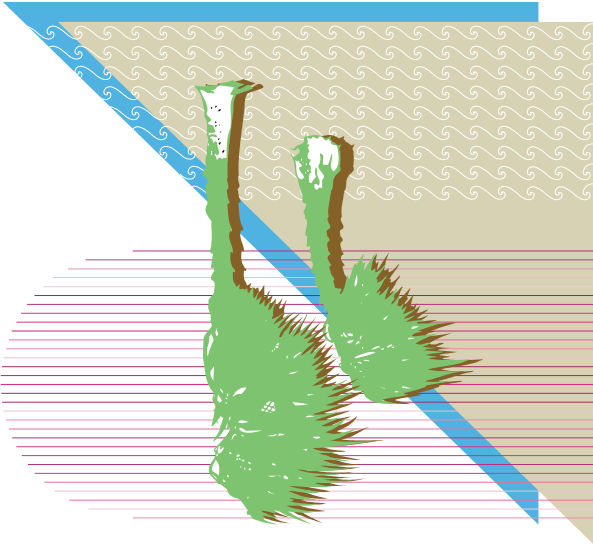

Here's What We'll Do for You...

- Help you get started on your road to recovery.
- Explain how SBA may help you recover from the damages of Typhoon Chaba.
- Give you an SBA disaster loan application.
- Help you prepare your loan application.
- Answer your specific questions.
